Farming Interests of Daviess County.

A brief sketch of the introduction of the grass system into Kentucky may not be uninteresting to the farmers of this county. More than a century ago, the descendants of Germans in Lancaster and Westchester counties in Pennsylvania located on the South branch and Shenandoah valley of the Potomac. They commenced the system of grass in their woodlands, and forty years ago these farms were held at $200 per acre in consequence of the improved system of management and the narrow strip in the valleys. About seventy years ago the descendants of these Grassiers sent a colony to Kentucky, chiefly in Clarke and Bourbon Counties, consisting, among others, of the Humes, Goffs, Cunninghams, Hutchesons, Harrisons, & Rennicks, the latter establishing themselves on the Scioto, around Chillicothe, Ohio. I would delight to dwell here on the manner in which they made what was relatively "a wilderness blossom as a rose." The parks of England are to be compared with the Woodlands in the bluegrass region. I take as sample the career of Mr. Goff. He bought 50 acres, cut down all the timber in the tract, and cultivated it in corn. The crop he cut up on the field, made a shock on a square of sixteen hills, and through the winter to a lot of the profits on this operation. He then bought fifty acres more, cleared it in the same manner, and in the same way. The first year after two crops were sown in clover. His neighbors remarked that he did by adding the forest on it. He then cleared into a woodland by the firewood and undergrowth only the choice timber, leaving it in blue grass, or as books call it green sward. He then made a pasture in the less valuable than the farmers who neglected it. He lived to an old age, leaving two sons two acres each, and $10,000 in the bank. The farm near to Birmingham was beautiful, the timber trees left the sun to the fattening quality of the grass and those of the Clarke, of B. H. Hester, Lewis, and others, who regarded the grazing to the February crop, from it, and the young without it may be for food.

With the destruction of the monopoly free labor will hasten from all parts of the civilized world to assist in developing various and immeasurable resources which have hitherto lain dormant. The eight or nine States nearest the Gulf of Mexico have a soil of exuberant fertility, a climate friendly to long life, and can sustain a denser population than has yet been found in any part of our country. And the future influx of population to them will be mainly from the North, or from the most cultivated portions of Europe.

From the sufferings that have attended them during our late struggle, let us look away to the future, which is sure to be laden for them with greater prosperity than has ever been known. The removal of the monopoly of slave labor is a pledge that these regions will be peopled by a numerous and enterprising population, which will vie with any in the Union in commerce, inventive genius, wealth and industry. I think the introduction of white labor is destined to revolutionize the entire social status of this country.

Where formerly all things bore the quiet repose of patriarchal slavery there will soon be bustle and enterprise, and sleepless industry, where an undivided tract of hundreds of acres under cultivation, and of thousands still timbered, used to be a single homestead, we shall soon find the lands, divided off into snug and manageable farms, with intelligent white laborers and their families, who look not merely to the growth of great staples, but improvement, comfort and embellishment. The great problem for us now to solve is, How shall we compete with our sister States who have in the past had the full benefits of immigration? We must have labor, and now while the race of white labor is open, let us enter the lists among the first.

Our Legislature should unite with us in devising the ways and means to induce immigration. Agents should be sent abroad to the seaboard cities—on our borders fully prepared with the statistics of the State, showing her vast fields of minerals, her rich lands, her genial and healthful climate, the conservatism of her people, the greatness of her laws, and the numerous seats of learning in her midst.

[For the Industrial and Commercial Gazette.]

FRANKFORT, KY., Jan. 12th, 1866.

This little city, as usual during the session of the Legislature, presents a lively appearance. A meeting of the State Agricultural Society, for the purpose of discussing the Labor Question, constituted one of the features of the present week. Ten counties were not, we understand, represented. Speeches were made by R. W. Scott, Esq., Gen. Leslie Combs, and a gentleman from Ohio. The meeting was held in one of the Legislative halls, and much interest was manifested by those in attendance; although the number present was not as large as the importance of the subject should have attracted.

The following is the address delivered by President Bradford, as reported by the able correspondent of the Louisville Courier, together with a tabulation of each item of taxation and its valuation in this State:

Gentlemen: One of the greatest objects of our society is to harmonize all parties, and bring to bear every interest to advance Kentucky—to make her first in agriculture and mechanic arts, as she now is in stock and mineral resources.

There are themes of thrilling interest connected with the subject of American agriculture, but that on which my heart is fixed, and which it holds dear, is the power to conserve whatever is the most peaceful, salutary, and hopeful to our happy land.

I allude to its tendency to give regularity and healthfulness to the pulsations of the national heart, to quicken the tide of living sympathy and friendship, which should flow through every part of the body politic—to bind together in one great circle of life and love these kindred associations and States—to make and keep them one in affection, in interest, in inheritance and in glorious destiny—a happy, prosperous, free and united people, whose example of liberty and justice, of self-government and progress shall be the admiration of the world.

This noble Commonwealth, blessed as it is with a fertile soil and genial climate, and rich in all the natural resources that help to make nations prosperous and great, must not be permitted, without a struggle, to fall behind in the race of social progress and material development.

Following the history of our country, from its first discovery to the present day, it is seen that the early colonies from Great Britain and the continent of Europe have been enriched by a continual swelling tide of emigration.

The want, the great and pressing want of Kentucky to-day is LABOR—labor for her factories, labor for her farms, labor for her mines, labor for her forests, labor for her railroads, labor to supply new energy to her rapidly extending manufactures. An over-supply of labor is impossible, and the greater the number that are induced to come the better for those that are already here.

Never did the world witness a grander spectacle than this nation at the present moment—emerged from the fierce contest which proved her strength, and inviting as she does tens of millions of foreign labor to come and share her liberty and find safety in her protection, assuring them that her capacity is unbounded to employ and enrich them all.

President Johnson, in his Message to Congress, says: "Slavery was essentially a monopoly of labor, and as such locked the States where it prevailed against the incoming of free industry." Where labor was the property of the capitalist, the white man was excluded from employment, or had but the second best chance of finding it, and the foreign emigrant turned away from the region where his condition would be so precarious.

With the destruction of the monopoly free labor will hasten from all parts of the civilized world to assist in developing various and immeasurable resources which have hitherto lain dormant.

The eight or nine States nearest the Gulf of Mexico have a soil of exuberant fertility, a climate friendly to long life, and can sustain a denser population than has yet been found in any part of our country. And the future influx of population to them will be mainly from the North, or from the most cultivated portions of Europe.

From the sufferings that have attended them during our late struggle, let us look away to the future, which is sure to be laden for them with greater prosperity than has ever been known. The removal of the monopoly of slave labor is a pledge that these regions will be peopled by a numerous and enterprising population, which will vie with any in the Union in commerce, inventive genius, wealth and industry. I think the introduction of white labor is destined to revolutionize the entire social status of this country.

Where formerly all things bore the quiet repose of patriarchal slavery there will soon be bustle and enterprise, and sleepless industry, where an undivided tract of hundreds of acres under cultivation, and of thousands still timbered, used to be a single homestead, we shall soon find the lands, divided off into snug and manageable farms, with intelligent white laborers and their families, who look not merely to the growth of great staples, but improvement, comfort and embellishment. The great problem for us now to solve is, How shall we compete with our sister States who have in the past had the full benefits of immigration? We must have labor, and now while the race of white labor is open, let us enter the lists among the first.

Our Legislature should unite with us in devising the ways and means to induce immigration. Agents should be sent abroad to the seaboard cities—on our borders fully prepared with the statistics of the State, showing her vast fields of minerals, her rich lands, her genial and healthful climate, the conservatism of her people, the greatness of her laws, and the numerous seats of learning in her midst.

We meet to-day in accordance with a call from the committee appointed by the Kentucky State Agricultural Society on the 14th of December. The object of appointing such committee was to memorialize the Legislature to pass a law authorizing the appointment of agents to procure labor for Kentucky.

The amendment to the Constitution of the United States, abolishing slavery, having been adopted, we are called to supply such labor as will meet the various wants of our people; but more especially that class we represent, the mechanical and agricultural interests. Men of both political sentiments meet with our society, and have expressed their opinion that the subject of agriculture afforded common ground where all could meet.

What plans ought to be adopted your wisdom must devise. We must be up and doing. Now is the time to act. The assembled wisdom of the State is at our capital. So then let us appeal.

Gen. Leslie Combs, having been called upon, addressed the convention in a brief, interesting, and instructive speech, giving our farmers many valuable suggestions concerning all that the General contains a great appreciation of the inexhaustible and varied resources of our State, both agricultural and mineral.

Mr. Orf, of Ohio, who has been for years engaged in introducing emigration into various States, was introduced to the convention, and gave his views as to the importance of the subject under consideration, as well as the experience and success of other States in accomplishing what this State now needs.

On motion of R. W. Scott, Esq., of Franklin, a committee of seven was appointed to prepare resolutions expressive of the sense of the convention on the subject which this convention assembled to consider. The President appointed the following gentlemen a committee in obedience to the foregoing resolution, viz: R. W. Scott, Robert Mallory, J. R. Underwood, George Poindecker, Lawrence Young, Frank Wolford, and A. P. Grover.

The committee having, returned through their chairman, Mr. Scott, reported the following preamble and resolutions:

Whereas, The great revolution which has swept over the United States has resulted in the abolition of slavery in Kentucky, it is proper, in the judgment of this meeting, that the existing fact should be (properly and officially) recognized by the civil authorities of the State, and such legislation should be speedily enacted as will be most conducive to the public welfare, regard being had to all the claims upon us as an honorable and Christian people in favor of an unfortunate race in our midst, which are in no wise responsible for the condition in which they are placed; therefore

Resolved, That in the deliberate judgment of this meeting, the Legislature should enact such laws as will accord and secure to the recent slaves of Kentucky such rights of person and property as shall be in harmony with the general welfare, and compatible with the moral and intellectual character of the race as fast as they shall be developed.

Resolved, That in the opinion of this meeting, it is the wish of many of the late owners to re-employ their late slaves in their former vocations and at as liberal wages as will be justified by all attending circumstances, and such a course is deemed highly commendable and consistent with the best interests of both parties, and is hereby cordially recommended for general adoption.

Resolved, That although the social and industrial condition of Kentucky may appear to us to be onerous and unjust, it is not in our character as Kentuckians to be overwhelmed by misfortunes nor appalled by difficulties, and that we will make the present crisis in our industrial pursuits the starting point in a new career of industry and energy, prosperity and renown.

Resolved, That in these noble purposes we are sustained not only by our own brave hearts and willing hands, but also by a climate of unsurpassed salubrity; by a soil of most exuberant fertility; by mines and minerals of great variety and incalculable wealth; and by a geographical position of manufacturing and commercial advantages unequalled or unsurpassed by any other State.

Resolved, That for the speedy and full development of these vast and varied resources of prosperity and wealth, our Legislature is hereby respectfully requested to enact such legislation as shall invite into our State that capital and labor which shall be most reliable, industrious, intelligent and enterprising.

On motion a call of the counties in the State was ordered. It was thus ascertained that seventy counties were represented.

Mr. Scott advocated the adoption of the preamble and resolutions by some very forcible and eloquent remarks. On motion of Z. Ward, of Woodford, the preamble and resolutions of the convention were unanimously adopted.

On motion, the convention then adjourned.

L. J. BRADFORD, President.

JAS. J. MILLER, Secretary.

A synopsis of the very able and interesting speech of R. W. Scott, Esq., will appear in the next issue of this paper. We learn that an application has been made to the Legislature for a charter for a company, the object of which is to promote the breeding of thorough bred horses. The breeding establishments of Alexander and others are now probably among the largest in the world, but it is supposed that an establishment of the kind proposed, would facilitate the breeding of fine horses, and enable Kentucky to surpass the world in numbers, as she has already done in quality of superior horses. It is to be hoped that the charter will be granted.

It would be a work of supererogation to make mention of Legislative proceedings. It is enough to say that the present Assembly is a working one, and, in the main, is composed of some of the best brain material of the State.

An interesting feature, and one that adds largely to the pleasure of a visit, is the organization known as the Assembly Ball Club. This club is composed of a number of the most agreeable and high-toned gentlemen of Frankfort; who at a great sacrifice of time and money have inaugurated a series of entertainments which are not surpassed by those of a similar character at the National Capital.

These Assembly Club meetings are held at the Capital Hotel, in a room especially constructed for the purpose, and undoubtedly exercise not a little influence in the extension of a Legislative session.

Frankfort can boast of a First Class Hotel, which is not the case, save in name, with many cities of much greater pretensions. The Capitol Hotel, under the management of Mr. Aiken, will compare favorably with the large hotels of New York, and in point of comfort and social relations, is in every respect superior. We paid our bill and can therefore, speak disinterestedly.

In hospitality, intelligence, and social refinement, the citizens of Frankfort have no superiors, and but few peers; and a gentleman or lady will ever retain agreeable recollections of the incidents of a visit.

Meeting of the Board of Directors of the Kentucky State Agricultural Society.

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Kentucky State Agricultural Society, held at the Capitol Hotel, in the city of Frankfort, on Thursday evening, January 11, 1866—

Members present.—Colonel L. J. Bradford, President; P. Swigert, Vice-President; R. W. Scott, Harrison Taylor, Lawrence Young, and Jacob Hawthorn.

On motion, it was

Resolved, That this Society hold a National Tobacco Fair in the city of Louisville on the 6th and 7th of June, 1866.

On motion, it was

Resolved, That the Kentucky State Agricultural Society, appreciating the importance of the World's Fair, proposed to be held in the city of Paris, France, on the 1st of May, 1867, most cordially recommend to the President for appointment as one of the delegates from the United States to said Fair, Colonel L. J. Bradford, of Bracken county, Kentucky, a gentleman who, by his long devotion to agriculture and the various industrial interests of our country, is eminently qualified, in our opinion, to fill the position with credit to his country.

The following resolutions were then offered:

Resolved, That R. W. Scott, Jacob Hawthorn, and James M. Miller be a committee to correspond with the several State Agricultural Societies, Governors of the States, and all Architectural, Mechanical, and Scientific Associations in this country, soliciting reports, treatises on agriculture, mechanics, &c., &c.; stating that by a recent fire the Society has been deprived of the library, cabinet of minerals, &c.

Resolved, That this Board approve the action of the Agricultural Convention, held this day in this city, on the subject of labor and capital, and we recommend the Legislature to take such action, in a State capacity, as shall be deemed best calculated to accomplish the object.

Resolved, That this Board endorse the report of the President of the National Tobacco Convention, made to the Special Commissioner of Internal Revenue, appointed by the Secretary of the Treasury, to revise the revenue laws, and report to Congress on the subject of leaf tobacco.

Resolved, That this Board approve of the establishment of the paper at Louisville called the Industrial and Commercial Gazette, and recommend it to the patronage of the agriculturalists and mechanics of the State.

There being no further business before the Board, it adjourned.

A Suggestion to Astronomers.

Some one, signing himself W. L. D., under date of Louisville, Ky., Dec. 4th, 1865, thus writes to the Scientific American:

MESSRS. EDITORS:—A recent article in your valuable paper, in relation to tables for cutting screw threads on geared lathes, suggested the probability of an astronomical calculation, by means of cogged gearing, properly constructed, which should automatically indicate eclipses, transits, conjunctions, oppositions and all regular motions of the planetary system with mathematical exactness, thus saving the trouble of "brain-work" in such matters, other than reading the register and taking notes. I think such an apparatus might be found quite useful in practice, and would be better, every way, for such purposes, than even the best known planetarium, beside costing far less.

Kentucky Agricultural Convention.

The following resolutions reported to the State Agricultural Convention, in Frankfort, by Hon. Robert W. Scott, of Franklin, were adopted as the sense of the meeting:

Resolved, That in the deliberate judgment of this meeting, the Legislature should enact such laws as will accord and secure to the recent slaves of Kentucky such rights of person and property as shall be in harmony with the general welfare, and compatible with the moral and intellectual character of the race as fast as they shall be developed.

Resolved, That in the opinion of this meeting it is the wish of many of the late owners to re-employ their late slaves in their former vocations and at as liberal wages as will be justified by all attending circumstances, and such a course is deemed highly commendable and consistent with the best interests of both parties, and is hereby cordially recommended for general adoption.

Resolved, That although the social and industrial condition of Kentucky may appear to us to be onerous and unjust, it is not in our character as Kentuckians to be overwhelmed by misfortunes, nor appalled by difficulties; and that we will make the present crisis in our industrial pursuits the starting point in our new career of industry and energy, prosperity and renown.

Rimmers.

Rimmers are indispensable tools in all shops that profess to do good work. No matter how well holes may be drilled, they are not perfect unless rimmed. The twist drills now in use in the best shops make holes as perfect as drills can, yet even with them it is necessary to run a rimmer through where two parts are to be bolted fast—as a cylinder on its frame, a pillow block in its seat, or other details that require to be immovable.

The next common form of rimmer in use is the fluted one. The cutting part consists of many blades worked out of the solid metal either by planing or milling on a machine. These tools are good in many cases, but they are frequently made with too many and too sharp cutting edges. The hole formed by such a rimmer is not round but a series of angles, as any one can see or feel by looking at it or putting a finger in. In our opinion it would be far better to make rimmers of this class with five or seven cutters than twelve or fourteen, which is generally done; and, furthermore, to leave less to rim in the work than is generally left, so that instead of taking a rank hold of the metal, the cutters would just clean the surface, and no more. In holes from half an inch to an inch, the sixty-fourth part of an inch is ample, if the drill is what it should be. In holes from an inch to two inches, a full sixty-fourth to one-thirty second should be allowed to rim out. Holes over two inches are cheaper bored out with a bar and cutter than rimmed, where it is possible, for the reason that rimming is done by hand and is slow and hard work, while boring is done by power, and is quick and easy. Rimmers with seven blades require to be well backed off, the taps are, but not so much as to cause them to jam in the hole and work hard.

We have seen rimmers made with lozenge or diamond shaped teeth, which worked very well. A pine-apple forms a good natural illustration of their pattern. Such a rimmer is easily made in the lathe. To make it, put on screw gear to cut a quick pitch—say one turn in two inches for an inch rimmer. Cut a right-hand thread and then cut a left-hand thread on the same piece, plane it out, and back it off the same as any other rimmer. Such a tool will cut a round smooth hole and take more metal out with less labor than a straight fluted rimmer. Stubbs makes a fluted rimmer, with flat sides, that does well enough in a small work, but we never had a fancy for rimmers with flat sides. If it is necessary to straighten up a whole with a rimmer, and the tool is forced over to one side, a pentagonal rimmer is almost certain to bear in and work the hole oval.

Half-round rimmers are very useful to boiler makers or in rough work, but have no place in a machine shop.

A square rimmer is not worth a cent to do good work well. Holes, in castings that are cored out and have to be rimmed, should be drilled when over an inch, being first stopped with hard wood plugs, driven in tight, so that the drill will have a bearing on the point. Holes up to and under one inch may be cleaned out with a drift pin, which is simply a square-end punch. All rimmers, of whatever form, should enter the hole to be rimmed at least one inch before they begin to cut, so as to get a fair start and stand straight.—Scientific American.

of chief importance is whether, in spite of these improvements, the reopening of the Mississippi route, when fully provided with steamers, will not remand many of the roads back into a non-divided paying condition? The roads connecting with the East will inevitably suffer a diminution in the amount of their traffic; and the river competition will materially reduce the rates of freight. The result of this competition is already showing itself in a decline of the current earnings of the leading roads. At the same time it is necessary to set off

VINEGAR-EELS live in water that has sugar in it, and in saccharine fruits and roots. In water with 5 per cent. of sugar they increase in great numbers; and their increase becomes more rapid until the water holds 40 per cent. of sugar. When it holds 50 per cent. they perish. They are found only in vinegar made from fruit. They live in fruit that has fallen, and in roots; and they have powers of locomotion through earth, and live in it for some time.

The effluvia which escapes from the sewers, in the very attempt to ventilate them, are of a very pernicious character, and have often been productive of mischievous effects. M. Robinet, a French chemist, has devised a very effective means of freeing the sewers from them.

For this purpose, he proposes that the furnaces of factories shall derive their supply of air from the sewers; the latter will thus be emptied of their mephitic gases, which will be destroyed by combustion, fresh air from the atmosphere supplying their place. He calculates that if the combustion of only 70,000 tons of coal can be thus economised annually in Paris, or only a tenth part of what is burned there, the sewers will be supplied with about 140,000 cubic feet of fresh air—that is, more than seven times their contents—daily. He would apply the same principle to the ventilation of cesspools, etc. It has been partially in use already, on a small scale.

Manufacturing in the South and West.

Among the objections urged against the practicability of manufacturing in the South and West, it is said that "counties are so poor in raw materials as to be at a disadvantage in manufacturing." In view of the fact that sugar has been successfully manufactured in the fields, wine in the vineyards, lumber in the forests, and turpentine and tar in the pine woods, and the various fabrics in the laboratories contiguous to the mineral deposits of ore; the objection can only be considered as overwhelming. The whole question resolves itself into a simple problem: Is it more economical to transport the raw materials thousands of miles from the geological and prolific soils of the West, to the manufacturer in the inhospitable hills of New England, or to pay transportation other miles from the cereal fields to the mill, to feed him while he manufactures, and then pay transportation of the manufactured wares thousands of miles to the consumer, than to transport its manufacture to the locality where his raw materials are? If so, then the whole question is solved by all means have gone to the West, and not waited for the mountain.

It is a favorite hobby with the "Manifest Destiny" people of the East, the South, and the West, to say that the West is a land of opportunity, and that the East is a land of adversity. It is a pity that the West is not more generally understood. The fact that steel is hardened by sudden cooling has never been explained. Several layers of well sized wall-paper, when properly placed upon a floor, and unvarnished, make a good substitute for oil-cloth, and are quite as durable as much of the oil-cloth offered for sale. A machine which will enable a baby to walk before it can stand alone, has been patented recently. Not less than nine patents were issued during the week ending January 2d.

Wrought-iron gas mains are preferred in France to those constructed of cast-iron. The latter are generally employed in the United States. Iron pyrites, or fool's gold is as hard as quartz, and will scratch glass. It is exceedingly brittle, and, when struck by a hammer, is reduced to powder. Silver and gold, for which it is frequently mistaken, are malleable, and make no impressions upon glass. Acids have but little effect upon pyrites, and cannot be relied on as tests. Mica, which is frequently found in rock, in shining particles, and is sometimes mistaken for the precious metals, can be recognized by the fact that it is laminated, and can be split into any number of layers.

Many limestone strata of great thickness, in certain localities, are composed almost entirely of shells not larger than the head of a pin.

There is a stratum of black flint in the Mammoth Cave, out of which the Indians manufactured arrow-points.

Chalk is the disintegrated remains of small shell-fish. It is not pure carbonate of lime, but contains a small proportion of silica, which, like chalk, has formed the skeletons of small animals.

Synopsis of Art and Science.

BY PROF. C. W. WRIGHT.

A steel rifle shot leaves the Armstrong gun with a velocity of one thousand and four hundred and twenty (1,420) feet per second. Sound does not travel at such a high rate of speed.

Iron, when associated with the element lithium, resists the action of hydrochloric acid, and many other bodies which ordinarily corrode it.

Fused iron, in the act of solidifying, evolves carbonic oxide and hydrogen gases.

Magnesian limestone, (Dolomite) which is a double carbonate of lime and magnesia, when heated to between seven and eight hundred degrees, Fahrenheit, will yield, it is said, an excellent quality of hydraulic cement. This mineral is found in quantity in various parts of Kentucky. It can be distinguished from the carbonate of lime, by not evolving carbonic acid at ordinary temperatures by the application of a mineral acid.

No atmosphere, or vapor, has been discovered on the surface of the moon.

The largest steam cylinder ever cast measured one hundred and twelve (112) inches in diameter, and twelve (12) feet in length.

It is said that one great advantage which the underground rail-way, of London, England, possesses over any other is that a passenger can travel as far for two cents in ten minutes as he can travel above ground for twelve cents in the course of an hour.

The somewhat rare element, Molybdenum, has been found in a mineral recently discovered in New York city.

Corks have, as a general thing, been cut by hand. Recently a company has been organized in Massachusetts for the purpose of manufacturing these useful articles by a newly invented machine, which turns them out with wonderful rapidity, and of fine finish. Cork is the bark of a tree, and is composed of cells, which are permeated by wax.

Much of what is sold for creasote is carbolic acid. Carbolic acid has, generally, the same odor, and a general appearance of creasote, and possesses the same antiseptic properties. When wood is imbued with carbolic acid it resists decay. It is generally obtained from coal-oil.

Streets were first lighted with gas in the latter part of the year 1812, and the first house was illuminated by it about 1795.

Steel contains more carbon than wrought iron, but not as large a portion as cast iron.

The fact that steel is hardened by sudden cooling has never been explained.

Several layers of well sized wall-paper, when properly placed upon a floor, and unvarnished, make a good substitute for oil-cloth, and are quite as durable as much of the oil-cloth offered for sale.

A machine which will enable a baby to walk before it can stand alone, has been patented recently.

Not less than nine patents were issued during the week ending January 2d.

We understand that the Masonic Savings Bank, which institution has a liberal charter, will in a few days go into operation with A. G. Hodges as President, and J. S. McCorkle as cashier. The bank will be located on the North side of Main between Fourth and Fifth streets.

We notice that the admirable articles written for this paper by Prof. Wright are being extensively copied by our exchanges—sometimes with credit, and sometimes without.

Very little activity was manifested in the lumber business of our city during the past week. The demand has been principally for home use.

The Gold Tide.

Soon after the late war broke out, the shipments of Gold from California to the Atlantic seaports dropped from about thirty-five millions annually to about twelve millions. All the rest was sent to foreign countries, or brought East by other conveyances, so as to escape capture by rebel privateers. The tide has again turned, for we see by a recent table of shipments, that $20,564,895 have been sent by the California steamers, to New York, within the present year. The whole amount sent forward from San Francisco to the Eastern States from January 1, 1854, to December 20, 1864, is $377,080,719. Of course this is not the whole product for the time specified. Much of the gold is sent to foreign countries to pay for merchandise and to settle exchanges, and a vast deal more is sent East by other modes than regular shipment by the steamers. In a recent work, published at San Francisco, the whole gold product of the Pacific country since 1849, is set down at $750,000,000!

At a meeting of the Kentucky State Agricultural Society, held at the Capitol Hotel at Frankfort on Thursday, the 11th inst., among other resolutions adopted was the following:

Resolved, That the Board approve of the establishment of the paper at Louisville called the Commercial and Industrial Gazette, and recommend it to the patronage of the agriculturists and mechanics of the State.

[Signed] L. G. BRADFORD, Pres.

J. S. MILLER, Secretary.

We tender our best thanks to the Members of the Board for the high compliment they have paid us, and shall spare no pains to deserve it. We trust we shall not only meet the approbation of our agricultural friends, but their co-operation. Our columns are always open to them, and if they will unite with us in the effort we are making to disseminate practical information upon the great industrial interests of the country, the success of our undertaking will be assured.

SCHOOL CHILDREN IN THE CITY.—The trustees of the various city school districts have made their report to Oliver Lucas, Esq., Commissioner for Jefferson county. They report twenty-two thousand three hundred white persons in the city within the required school ages. Of this number only 7,000 are in attendance upon the public schools.

This paper has now, we think, the largest circulation among Southern merchants of any paper in Louisville or the South-west.

It goes to almost every county in every Southern State.

It is the very paper in which manufacturers, wholesale dealers, and hotel keepers should advertise.

Our friends who are so generally working to extend our list, must not feel slighted if we do not acknowledge by letter, all their favors; for it is utterly impossible to do so, with the number we are now daily receiving. Letters needing attention shall be attended to with as little delay as possible.

The ground was broken on Thursday last for the site of the new and commodious depot to be erected by the Louisville and Frankfort railroad company, at the head of Jefferson street. We understand that the work will be vigorously prosecuted to an early completion.

The eminent tragedienne, Emma Waller, has been playing during the past week at the Louisville theatre to large and delighted audiences. Mrs. Waller is a good actress and eminently deserves the reputation she has won.

We notice that the new boxes for the reception of letters have been attached to the lamp posts and houses throughout the various portions of the city. The plan has been found to work well in the Eastern cities.

The improved appearance of our paper this week is owing chiefly to the absence of our principal editor, who is unavoidably detained in Frankfort. Ahem!

We take no notice whatever of anonymous communications. Parties who wish us to use information they communicate, must send us their names—not for publication, but for our own protection, and as a voucher for good faith.

Col. L. J. Bradford, of Bracken, the able, President of the State Agricultural Society, is arranging for the largest tobacco fair ever held in the State. It is to occur in this city next May.

An energetic and capable man is wanted to take editorial charge of a country newspaper in one of the most promising regions of Kentucky. Enquire at this office.

The Nashville papers speak in highly complimentary terms of the efficient management of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad since Mr. Albert Fink assumed the superintendency of it.

Our New Advertisers.

KIRBY REAPER AND MOWER.—The attention of our agricultural readers is directed to the advertisement of Messrs Brink and Ransom, agents for the sale of the justly celebrated Kirby Reaping and Mowing Machines. The great want of the South at present is labor, and this want may, in great part, be supplied by the employment of labor-saving machinery, and one of these machines will effect more in a day than a field full of free negroes. Messrs Brink and Ransom will take pleasure in furnishing parties who may desire to investigate the relative merits of the different machines offered, such information as will enable them to judge for themselves. Call and see them at No. 36, Second Street.

The Glasgow Times is one of the best country papers in Kentucky, and we are pleased to learn that it has a fine circulation throughout the whole Green River country. We observe that several of our business houses advertise in the Times; among whom are Moss & Trigg, Stockton & Co., (U. S. Hotel,) Phelps, Caldwell & Co., Platt & Allen, E. Klaunder & Co., J. D. Bondurant & Co., Heeter & Chaudoin, and Otter, Hackett & Co.

INGALLS & Co.—We take pleasure in calling special attention to the advertisement of this enterprising boot and shoe house in another column. They are prompt and reliable gentlemen. Their stock is large and carefully selected, and they are willing to compare prices with any house in the South-west. Give them a call at No. 165 West Main St.

J. D. BONDURANT & Co.—See new advertisement of J. D. Bondurant & Co., Main Street, between Third and Fourth. This house is too well and favorably known to need any more than a reminder that they are still at their old stand. Their old customers will find them, and new ones will lose nothing by giving them a call.

CRAIG, TRUMAN & Co.—The attention of hat buyers is directed to the advertisement of this well known and popular house. They are energetic and enterprising gentlemen, and their stock excelled by none in the West. Give them a call at No. 218, West Main street, Louisville Hotel block.

Thanks to Mr. Sam. Gill, Superintendent of the Louisville & Frankfort and Lexington & Frankfort Railroad, and to Mr. Albert Fink, Superintendent of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad, for courtesies toward this office.

Messrs. Kahn & Wolf have removed temporarily to store No. 157 Main street, between Fourth and Fifth.

STAMPS ON SUBSCRIPTIONS.—We find in an exchange the following reported decision of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue:

In the case of a subscription list, where the heading involves a promise to pay the sum annexed, the party signing is liable to the stamp duty required on promissory notes, unless he pays the sum annexed to his name at the time of signature, in which case the signing of his name should be regarded as a mere part of a memorandum.

Where the heading of a list involves a condition on which the subscribers will pay the sums annexed to their names, then each signature is held to create an agreement, subject to a duty of five cents.

This decision applies to those who subscribe for books sold by canvassers, and to subscriptions for charitable purposes.

The largest incomes in Bourbon county, Kentucky, are those of William Sarr, $21,990; G. G. White, $21,851; B. F. Puller, $10,952; William Buckner, $6,830; W. W. Fisher, $7,565; V. H. Kenney, $6,292; J. H. Boiden, $6,370; and John Hill, $5,619. There are no others above $5,000.

QUITE a number of merchants doing business along the Mississippi river, who usually purchase their goods in St. Louis, have found it to their interest recently to send their orders to this city.

They propose to have a new State capital at Albany, costing $3,000,000 or $4,000,000. It will be of white marble, from Vermont quarries.

HANDSOME TOBACCO SALES.—Messrs Spratt and Co., of the Pickett Warehouse, sold a hoghead of new cutting leaf, grown by J. W. Young, of Owen county, Ky., on the 17th inst., at $42 per 100 pounds; and on the 18th they sold two hogheads of new cutting leaf grown, by John W. Thomas, also of Owen county, Ky., one at $37 and the other at $50 per 100 pounds.

The total number of hogs killed and packed here and vicinity this season to date, is estimated at ninety one thousand five hundred (91,500), while that of last season is only estimated at fifty thousand (50,000). Showing an increase of forty-one thousand five hundred, (41,500), over last season.

Louisville Markets—Review of the Past Week.

At the date of our last issue the downward tendency of gold which had marked the previous week had been arrested and our bankers were paying 136 and selling at 138. Since then the market has steadily advanced, though it has not yet reached the figures prevailing a fortnight back. Apprehensions of a foreign loan are slowly subsiding, in view of the tremendous influences being brought to bear upon the Government, in opposition to it. We quote gold at 139.

Cotton has been held a little less firmly, though without quotable change in prices, the impression beginning to prevail that the stock in the South is considerably larger than earlier estimates figured it. We quote middling at 44@46 cents.

Hogs were somewhat scarcer and higher towards the middle of the week, and considerable sales were effected at $9.50 to $9.75 per gross.

Flour—The market has been more animated, but prices have undergone no quotable change. Considerable sales for Southern account have been effected at last week's quotations.

Wheat continues dull and quotations remain at last week's figures.

Corn is in demand with light stocks in the market. We quote it at 65 and 60 cents on arrival, and 55 and 58 cents in store.

GROCERIES.—A fair business has been done by jobbers last week's quotations.

PROVISIONS.—The market has been active, and prices firmly maintained. We quote mess pork at $30; prime mess at $27; hams 24@25c; clear sides 20c; shoulders 15; dried beef 20@21c; green hams 18c; bulk sides 17@18c; bulk shoulders 13@14c; green shoulders 10@10½c.

WHISKEY has fully maintained the advance of last week, and the demand has been unusually active. We quote raw at $2.25@2.28; and old at 2.15@2.25.

TOBACCO remains steady at last week's quotations, with an advancing tendency. Sales of the week foot up as follows:

Pickett warehouse.....	200
Ninth Street warehouse.....	188
Boone warehouse.....	73
Louisville.....	169
Total.....	733

Com lugs.....	$5.50@6.00

Good.....	$18.00@22.00
First National of Lexington.....	$20.00@25.00
Selections.....	$25.00@40.00

DRY GOODS.—A fair business has been done at last week's quotations, no quotable variations in prices has occurred.

BOOTS AND SHOES.—The market is more active, but without variation in prices.

National Banks in Kentucky.—We append a list of the national banks established in Kentucky with the location and capital of each:

First National, of Louisville.....	$300,000
Planters' National, of Louisville.....	300,000

Hops.—In this market there were about 800 bales offering. Holders were asking $9.50 gross, which was above the views of buyers, and we heard of no sales. We quote the prices as ranging from $9.25 gross, and $11@11.25 net.

Provisions.—We note sales to day of 200 bbls mess pork at $29.00; 25 bbls do at $30; 25 tierces Stag hams at $25; 10,000 M. & A. sugar cured hams at 24@25c; 50 tierces kettle rendered lard at 18c; 50 kgs do at 20c; 6,000 lbs bulk meats viz: Shoulders and clear sides 17@18c; hams at 18½c.

Cotton.—We note sales to day of 10 bales low middling at 13c. Dispatches from New York to-day quote cotton sold at 49@51 for middling.

Whisky.—Is in fair request. We quote raw at $2.25; rectified $2.15@2.25; new copper $2.40@2.50; old copper $2.40@2.50; new Bourbon $2.50; old Bourbon $3.50@3.50; Trimble county whisky $2.75, rye whisky $2.50@2.50.

Tobacco.—The breaks to-day amounted to 116 bales, including 4 of factory trash, at $4.15@4.60, with rejections of bales on 7 hds, viz:

Pickett warehouse.....	48
Ninth-st. warehouse.....	30
Boone warehouse.....	16
Louisville.....	22
Total.....	116

The market was buoyant and prices of common and good lugs and medium leaf advanced fully 50c per 100 lbs.

Flour.—We quote superfine at $7.60; plain extra $8.50; extra family $10.50@10.75; Pearl $7.50@7.75; H. Clay and similar brands $9.50@9.75; Woodlawn $11@11.25; fancy brands $11.25@12; Broadway Mills XX at $7.50, XXX $8.75, Anchor $10.50. Buckwheat $7.50@10.00 lbs.

Wheat.—We quote new crop at $1.17@1.18; old white wheat, prime article at $2.15@2.25; old red at $1.80@2.00.

Corn.—We quote at 55@56c on arrival, and at 55@56c from store, including bags, and 50c in the ear.

Groceries.—We quote New Orleans sugar at 14@15c; by the hhd; crushed sugar 19@21c; granulated sugar 19@21c; powdered 20@22c; Cuba sugar at 14@15c; Porto Rico sugar 15@17c.

Hops.—The market is inactive, with about 500 head offering at $9.50 gross. Dealers are paying from $10 to $10.50 net for country dressed hops.

Provisions.—We quote lard at 17@18c for No. 1, to kettle rendered in tierces, and at 20@21c in kgs. Mess pork $30; prime mess $27; hams 24@25c; clear side in tierces, at 20c shoulders 15½c.

Cotton.—The market is without excitement, and transactions are limited. We note sales to-day of 4 bales of Kentucky cotton at 43c. Dispatches from New York to-day quote middling firm at 51c.

Whisky.—We quote raw at $2.25; rectified $2.15@2.25; new copper $2.40@2.50; old copper $2.40@2.50; new Bourbon $2.50; old Bourbon $3.50@3.50; Trimble county whisky $2.75, rye whisky $2.50@2.50.

FANCY GOODS

O

Until January 1st., we will continue to sell our stock of Goods as cheap as any house in the trade, and from the bottom of any bill of $2,000 we will

Deduct 20 per cent.

T

From any bill of $1,000, we will

Deduct 10 per cent.

From any bill of $500, we will

Deduct 5 per cent.

I

And from any bill averaging more or less than either of the above amounts, we will make a

A Good Investment

For any one wishing to make good use of their surplus capital.

We have an excellent variety of Cloaks of the Latest Designs,

From the cheapest material to the richest velvet. They are all of our own manufacture, and are as good value as can be found anywhere.

Our stock of

RIBBONS, VELVETS, LACES,

HEAD-NETS, CLOAK-OR-

NAMENTS, BUTTONS,

DRESS TRIMMINGS,

And many other varieties were all BOUGHT FOR THIS

MARKET, and the purchases of those who examine them are the best evidence of their style and value. One principle reason why we offer these extra inducements, is that we are going to move to another store next month, but the other, and greatest reason is, that we NEED THE MONEY.

O

We advised our customers on the 10th inst., that we had receipts made out in full of their accounts with us, and requested them to send to us for them—just as we expected, they have faithfully commenced doing so, and from the present appearance of things, we have every reason to hope that they will all be sent for during the present month, and our treasury well replenished for the Spring trade.

OTIS & CO.

P. S.—Any one sending us orders will have the same benefits as those making their own selections. Namely, having their order filled at the lowest market rates, and if their bill amounts to $2,000, they will be entitled to a discount of four hundred dollars ($400). If their bill amounts to $1,000, they will be entitled to a discount of one hundred dollars ($100), and a greater or lower discount for a larger or smaller order. O. & CO.

Opposite old "Galt House" ruins.

THE KIRBY
REAPER AND MOWER
COMBINED.

The above cut represents "THE KIRBY" COMBINED
REAPER AND MOWER, as set up for Reaping. The same Machine is changed to a Mower by simply removing the Platform and some other minor changes, all of which can be done in a very few minutes, in the field.

Although "The Kirby" is new in the South, the farmer may have no fear of its being an untried thing, as over 30,000 have been sold in the Northern and Western States, where it has taken the lead of over twenty other kinds for the last nine years.

For Lightness of Draft, (only two horses being required,) ease of management, Quality of its work, Simplicity, Durability, Strength, Ability to work on either rough or smooth ground, and
"Centre Draft," it stands ahead of all competitors in those States where it is best known.

N. B.—We also have for sale the "Kirby Clipper," a single Mower, weighing only about 450 pounds, which is the lightest, cheapest and best single Mower in the world.

The Kirby is fitted for both a hand and self-raking Reaper;—
the self-raking attachment being put on to any Combined Kirby by only three bolts.

We are now introducing this Machine to the people of the South for the first time, and will mail a descriptive pamphlet, with engravings and prices, to any address which may be sent us. We are establishing Sub-Agencies in the larger towns of the State of Kentucky, and the South generally, and all communications by mail or otherwise will receive prompt attention.

The Whittier and Ainsworth

HORSE POWER

Drilling Machines

FOR OIL, SALT, or WATER.

THIS MACHINE IS NOT A NEW

Invention, but a practical and long experience in drilling, which have used it for eight years in boring artesian wells, through the hardest flint and lime rock for water. It has proven its entire superiority over all other machinery for drilling, and challenges the world to produce an other that can do the same work as fast for the same money. It is a very simple, and combines strength and durability in its construction, and much greater economy in its working than has ever been attained by any other Machine now in use. It is easily worked with one horse, and requires but two men, who with ordinary mechanical capacity and industry, can drill from twenty to thirty feet per day in ordinary rock. By the construction of the bit it drills a smooth, true and perfect hole for three to six inches in diameter, requiring no reamer, or man to turn the drill. The tools have an independent draw, and make from forty to sixty lifts per minute, depending upon the length of strokes. The attachment for boring tools

LEASES AND INTERESTS

IN THE

GERMANIA OIL COMPANY,

Barren County, Ky.

Rare Inducements!

THIS COMPANY, WHICH WAS organized in February last, with a Capital of $300,

000, working Capital, $42,000, divided into 15,000 shares, at $20 par value, with 1200 acres of land, now offers to re-lease a portion of their choice territory to companies who are willing to operate. The Germania has already received propositions from parties in the East who design active operations next Spring, but no definite agreement having yet been made, all who are interested in the progress of their wells, with every indication thus far of still richer veins of oil, are invited to examine their claims to as fine territory as can be found in other oil lands

throughout the State.

The Company also desires the services of a Superintendent, one who can bring testimonials as to his competency and experience in all respects. None other need apply.
